INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORTATION OF HUMAN REMAINS

Pursuant to Resolution XXXVI of the XVI Meeting of the Directing Council, the Director of the Bureau invited an Expert Committee to prepare a final draft of standards for the Americas for the international transportation of human remains.

Because of the peculiar nature of the subject, the Expert Committee; was composed of representatives of health services and consular, diplomatic, and customs officials. The Committee met in Washington, D. C. from 13 to 15 December 1965 and received the advisory services of the Technical Unit on Tourism of the Pan American Union and of the National Funeral Directors Association of the United States of America.

The Pan American Sanitary Bureau furnished the Secretariat of the meeting as well as the pertinent administrative background material and the Report prepared by a Study Group which had met in 1965, plus a collection of the legislation currently in force in the Americas on this subject.

The Committee unanimously approved the following statement:

"The greater ease of communications today and the considerable increase in tourism make the international transportation of human remains a matter of practical interest that justifies the establishment of uniform standards.

The international transportation of human remains should be simplified so as not to increase the problems of the families with complicated and unnecessary procedures that appear to overlook the moral and social considerations involved in such cases.

It is possible to simplify the administrative procedures involved in obtaining authorization for the international transportation of human remains if it is borne in mind that, contrary to a deep-rooted opinion, a corpse does not constitute a health risk even when death was due to a quarantinable disease, since its power to infect disappear when it is suitably embalmed."
Embalming might become the general practice in the countries of the Americas since it is the most appropriate method of preserving human remains; however, this in no ways implies that other, simpler, and equally effective methods, cannot also be used."

In addition, the Committee approved the general standards appearing in its Final Report. (Annex I).

There was unanimous agreement on the standards, save on a single point, item d. of Regulation 4, which called for "Authorization for the shipment of the body, if necessary." To it Mr. Scott C. Lyon (United States) presented the following reservation:

"It is recommended that Article 4.d be deleted. This requirement for a document authorizing shipment of the body is likely to lead to unnecessary bureaucratic complications and delays, since it implies the need for a formal document, with attendant problems of authentication and proof of competence to authorize shipment, whereas at present these matters are generally handled on an informal basis. In our experience, the transit permit (see Article 4.c) is sufficient formal evidence of authorization for moving the body."

In late December 1965 the Director of the Bureau sent the Final Report of the Expert Committee to the Governments of the Organization and at the same time asked for their opinion on how to achieve uniform legislation in the countries of the Americas.

Up to the date of preparation of this document, the following Governments had replied: Argentina, Colombia, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Honduras, Jamaica, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Trinidad and Tobago, United States of America, and Venezuela. The following countries acknowledged receipt of the Report and stated that the draft general standards were under study: Brazil, Canada, Costa Rica, Guatemala, and Mexico. Replies were also received from the competent authorities of Antigua, Bahamas, Barbados, Dominica, and Montserrat.

The replies are generally favorable to the proposed standards, but some include interesting remarks. It seems to be the general opinion that the matter should be submitted to the forthcoming meeting of the Pan American Sanitary Conference, to be held in Washington, D. C. in late September 1966.

In compliance with paragraph 3 of Resolution XXXVI mentioned earlier, the Director of the Bureau has the honor to submit to the Executive Committee for consideration the Draft Standards prepared by the Expert Committee and the observations made by the Governments and health authorities of the Americas (See Annexes), and to invite the Executive Committee to make recommendations on the measures to be adopted in the matter of international transportation of human remains.

RULES OF PROCEDURE

At its first session the Committee approved the draft rules of procedure prepared by the Secretariat, which read as follows:

OFFICERS

Rule 1

At its first session the Committee shall elect a Chairman, a Vice-Chairman, and a Rapporteur. These, together with the Director of the Organization, or his representative, and the Technical Secretary, shall constitute the officers.

All of the sessions of the Committee shall be plenary sessions and shall be of a private character. The Committee may constitute Working Groups if it is considered necessary.

If the members of the Committee cannot agree, each shall be entitled to retain and express his personal opinion; this statement of opinion shall take the form of an individual or group report, which shall state the reasons why a divergent opinion is held.

(b) Other questions (administrative, etc.). Questions which are not purely scientific or technical may be submitted to a vote, and the decision of the Committee shall in such cases be taken to a majority of the members present and voting. If the votes are equally divided, the Chairman shall have the casting vote.

DRAFT STANDARDS

The Committee unanimously approved the following declaration:
The greater ease of communications today and the considerable increase in tourism make the international transportation of human remains a matter of practical interest that justifies the establishment of uniform standards.

The international transportation of human remains should be simplified so as not to increase the problems of the families with complicated and unnecessary procedures that appear to overlook the moral and social considerations involved in such cases.

It is possible to simplify the administrative procedures involved in obtaining authorization for the international transportation of human remains if it is borne in mind that, contrary to a deep-rooted opinion, a corpse does not constitute a health risk even when death was due to a quarantinable disease, since its power to infect disappear when it is suitably embalmed.

Embalming might become the general practice in the countries of the Americas since it is the most appropriate method of preserving human remains; however, this in no way implies that other, simpler, and equally effective methods, cannot also be used.

The Committee also approved the following general standards with a reservation concerning Article 4.d presented by Mr. Scott C. Lyon (see Annex).

Definitions

Article 1. International transportation of human remains is understood to be the shipment of the body from the country where the death occurred to the country of its final destination immediately after either death or disinterment.

Article 2. The transportation of bodies between frontier districts within 48 hours after death shall not be subject to these standards.

Article 3. For the purposes of these standards an impervious coffin shall be any container or box, of whatever material, which can be hermetically sealed by lining or encasing in plastic, rubber, metal or similar material either by the fact of sealing, soldering or by adding adhesive materials.

Documentation

Article 4. For international transportation of human remains, the following documents shall be required:

a. An official certificate of death issued by the local registrar of death, or similar authority.
b. A certified statement by the person authorized to prepare the remains, indicating the manner and method in which the body was prepared and indicating that the coffin contains only the body in question and necessary clothing and packing;

c. A transit permit stating the surname, first name, and age of the deceased person, issued by the competent authority for the place of death, or the place of burial in the case of exhumed human remains, and

d. Authorization for the shipment of the body, if necessary.

Health Measures

Article 5. The human remains shall be subject to the following measures:

a. Thorough washing with an effective disinfectant; disinfection of all orifices; packing of all orifices with cotton saturated with an effective disinfectant; wrapping in a sheet saturated with an effective disinfectant; and placing in an impervious coffin; or

b. Proper embalming (arterial and cavity) and placement in an impervious coffin.

Shipment Requirements

Article 6. Human remains prepared for international shipment must be placed in an impervious coffin. Where the cause of death was a quarantinable disease, as defined in the International Sanitary Regulations, the human remains must be embalmed (arterial and cavity) and placed in an impervious coffin.

The impervious coffin must thereupon be hermetically sealed and may be shipped without any other covering (except in the case of shipment by sea), or for protective purposes may be fitted in a wooden box, or one made of other material, so as to prevent movement; or may be wrapped in a specially designed fabric.

Transportation by land, air and sea

Article 7. The following regulations shall apply to the transportation by rail:

a. The impervious coffin may be transported in the baggage compartment of a passenger car.
b. Each country shall be responsible for fixing the time limit within which the body must be removed at its final destination.

In case of transportation by road the impervious coffin must be conveyed preferably on a closed hearse or failing such, in an ordinary closed van (truck) or automobile, placed in such a way as to prevent movement.

The impervious coffin may be conveyed also in the baggage compartment of a passenger aircraft or in a cargo aircraft and may be equipped with a vent or safety valve provided that precautions are taken to prevent the escape of liquids or nauseous gases.

In case of transportation by sea the impervious coffin, in order to preclude movement, must be packed in an ordinary wooden case, or one made of other material, or may be placed in a specially designed fabric container.

Common Provision

Article 8. Regardless of the mode of transportation, wreaths, flowers, and other similar funeral articles may be sent with the coffin only when it is permitted by the provisions in force in the country to which it is being sent.

Final Provisions

Article 9. The above formalities may be reduced either through bilateral agreements or by joint decision in particular cases.

Article 10. The transportation of ashes shall not be subject to health or other special measures.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the Chairman and Rapporteur of the Committee, together with the Representative of the Director and the Technical Secretary, sign the present Final Report in the English and Spanish languages.

RESERVATION CONCERNING ARTICLE 4.d,
PRESENTED BY MR. SCOTT C. LYON

It is recommended that Article 4.d be deleted. This requirement for a document authorizing shipment of the body is likely to lead to unnecessary bureaucratic complications and delays, since it implies the need for a formal document, with attendant problems of authentication and proof of competence to authorize shipment, whereas at present these matters are generally handled on an informal basis. In our experience, the transit permit (see Article 4.c) is sufficient formal evidence of authorization for moving the body.

Dear Sir:

At the request of the Minister, I am pleased to reply to your letter LO-CL-28-65 concerning the Final Report of the Expert Committee on International Transportation of Human Remains.

The Ministry has considered the Draft Standards adopted by the Committee and finds them as to form and concept, in accord with the country's opinion in this regard.

As to the legislative aspect, it is believed that Article 4 might envisage certification, by the Consul of the country of destination of the documents mentioned in the various paragraphs of this article, a step that would not cause delay and would give official support to the transaction.

It is further believed that the most effective way to follow in seeking to obtain uniform legislation in this regard in the countries of the Americas would be an international treaty.

Yours very sincerely,

Dear Dr. Horwitz,

I acknowledge receipt of the Final Report of the Expert Committee on International Transportation of Human Remains which was forwarded with your LO-CL-28-65 dated 30th December, 1965. I consider it a very useful report.

I should like to make the following comments:

Article 3, page 8. I am a little concerned about the use of plastic material in conveying human remains. I question whether it affords sufficient "protection" against damage by luggage and other packages.

Article 4(a), page 8. For greater clarity, I suggest "certificate of cause of death" rather than "certificate of death".

Article 6, page 9. I am still a bit concerned about "wrapped in a specially designed fabric".

Article 7, second paragraph on page 10. I am not clear about the impervious coffin being equipped with a vent or safety valve. If the coffin is to be impervious, it seems to me that this provision defeats the purpose.

Jamaica's representative will have an opportunity to discuss the matter when it is presented to the Executive Committee.

I support the second suggestion for dealing with the Report, i.e. that it be considered by the Executive Committee of the organisation for presentation to the next Pan American Sanitary Conference to be held in the Fall of 1966.

Yours sincerely

Dear Sir:

I refer to your circular letter No. IO-CL-28-65 under cover of which you sent me the Final Report of the Expert Committee on the International Transportation of Human Remains. This Report has been examined by officials at the Ministry and it is their opinion that the proposals of the Committee will facilitate the essential procedures for transporting human remains.

As for the proposed procedure for official approval of the standards, we believe that the second is the most suitable; in other words, that the standards be submitted to the next meeting of the Pan American Sanitary Conference, after the Executive Committee has ascertained and taken the opinions of the Governments into consideration.

Very truly yours,

Daniel Becerra de la Flor
President of the Council of Ministers and Minister of Public Health and Social Welfare
Sir,

This is to acknowledge receipt of your letter LO-CL-28-65 of 30th December, 1965, under cover of which you transmitted a copy of the Final Report of the Expert Committee on International Transportation of Human Remains.

The contents of the Report have been studied by the technical officers of this Ministry and they have agreed generally with the proposed standards.

They are in full agreement with Article 4(d) of the proposed standards and do not, therefore, support the reservation of Mr. Lyons of the United States of America. It is considered that human remains which are to be transported from one country to another, must not only be properly sealed from the point of view of public health and a certificate of cause of death accompany the remains, but some responsible Government officials should be satisfied that the remains being shipped is the corpse which is to be transported.

The standards should also provide for a casket to be so officially sealed that it would not be possible to break the seal. This precaution is considered necessary in order to prevent a corpse other than the authorized one from being transported.

With regard to the procedure to be followed to achieve uniform laws and regulations on international transportation of human remains, diplomatic negotiations as outlined by you in your letter would be quite appropriate except that Trinidad and Tobago also receive human remains from other sources such as for example the United Kingdom and it is uncertain whether the United Kingdom has observer status on the Council of the Organisation of American States. This observation also applies to the alternative method proposed.

It is considered that regardless of the procedure chosen, any decisions reached by the Pan American Health Organisation in this matter should be referred to the World Health Organisation with a view to achieving worldwide standardisation of the procedures.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

Dear Dr. Horwitz:

The proposed standards for the international transportation of human remains contained in the above mentioned Report appear to be generally satisfactory. However, it seems to us that Article 4 (d) might be deleted as unnecessary in view of subparagraph (c) of the same Article. It is also suggested that Article 4 (b) be amended, in order to require the certification of a responsible public official on the required statement. This could be done by substituting the words "A statement signed by the person authorized to prepare the remains, and certified by an appropriate government official or notary public," for the words "A certified statement by the person authorized to prepare the remains."

It would be helpful in ensuring against unnecessary customs delays upon arrival if each shipment of remains were accompanied by copies of the documentation required under 4 (b) and (c). This would be particularly

Dr. Abraham Horwitz,
Director,
Pan American Health Organization,

particularly important in the case of any hermetically sealed coffin. We suggest, therefore, that the following new unlettered paragraph be added to Article 4:

"Copies of the documentation required under subparagraphs (b) and (c) above shall accompany the shipment of remains."

With respect to the procedure to be followed in bringing the proposed standards to the attention of governments, it is our view that this might most readily be done by resolution of the Pan American Sanitary Conference. This resolution should approve the standards and recommend their application by the countries concerned by legislative measures or in any other manner consistent with national conditions and practice. We do not think the resolution should confine itself to recommending the incorporation of the standards into national legislation. The requirement of legislation in our view would be open to the objections that it would tend to freeze procedures at the current technological level and would pose difficulties for those countries, like the United States, with a federal form of government.

Sincerely yours,

I am pleased to inform you that the juridical aspects were studied by the Legal Department of this Ministry, and the technical aspects by the Public Health Department.

Their opinions appear in the attached document. The Ministry believes in principle, that the standards proposed, with such changes as might be made as a result of the study currently under way in the Member Countries of the Organization, are acceptable and adequate for the purpose. As you will see, there is unanimous agreement that these standards should be submitted to the next meeting of the Pan American Sanitary Conference and not to a special meeting.

Very truly yours,

DRAFT STANDARDS FOR THE INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORTATION OF HUMAN REMAINS

Opinions of the Legal Office

The amendment of our current legislation on this subject will be facilitated by the fact that it consists of an Executive Decree (Rules for Cemeteries, Burials, and Exhumations, dated 3 November 1948) and is not a Law. It will therefore be possible to incorporate any change advisable from an international standpoint into our national legislation without requiring the approval of our legislature.

As to the best procedure to follow to secure uniformity of standards and their adoption in the American countries, we prefer the alternative of submitting them to the Pan American Sanitary Conference at its forthcoming meeting in the Fall of 1966. After due study and possible changes, that body could recommend the adoption of these standards to all the Member Governments of the Pan American Health Organization.

Regarding the standards themselves, our comments are as follows:

1. The exception proposed by Article 2 implies that the transportation of bodies between frontier districts should not be subject to the same standards as those established by each country for long-distance shipment. We are aware that the exception is intended to avoid the negotiations required by shipment from one country to another because usually the distance between frontier districts is short. Nevertheless, to what extent can we consider districts to the frontier districts when their extreme points are very far apart? And in such a case, would it not be preferable for the shipment to be made according to international standards?

2. It is our belief that the "certified statement by the person authorized to prepare the remains indicating the manner and method in which the body was prepared" that Article 4.b calls for as the essential formal document required to effect shipment will make for delays and difficult negotiations. In effect, in requiring the statement to be certified, it means that the document must be notarized; in other words, that the signature and the qualifications of the persons who have intervened must be authenticated, and that is a slow and complex procedure. Moreover, it is especially serious because the remains may be held back from being shipped to their final destination until such time as that notarization has been completed.

We therefore recommend that certified statement be changed to some other word such as certificate, or declaration, which does not require the completion of cumbersome formalities.

3. We consider that the reservation concerning Article 4.d presented by Mr. Scott G. Lyon is very much to the point. The authorization he objects to calls for official steps cause unnecessary difficulties that can very well be avoided extra-officially. Furthermore, the requirements in items a), b), and c) of the article are sufficient to identify the body and meet the conditions for legal transportation.

We believe that in addition to the exact identification of the body or exhumed remains, the outside of the coffin should also bear a paper label or tag of appropriate size affixed to it in a conspicuous place.

4. Regarding the first paragraph in Article 7, we believe that the preference it alludes to refers exclusively the closed hearse, and that, only failing such, will the other alternatives be used. As the text now reads it does not clearly indicate which vehicle is preferred, and we therefore recommend that the paragraph be changed to read as follows: "In case of transportation by road, the impervious coffin will be conveyed preferably on a closed hearse or, failing such, in an ordinary closed van (truck) or automobile, placed in such a way as to prevent movement".

5. As to the last item of the same article, which refers to transportation by sea, we consider that transportation by river and lake should be added also. The text should therefore be changed to read: "In the case of transportation by sea, river, or lake, the impervious coffin, etc."

By and large, the purpose of these standards is praiseworthy, especially from the humanitarian point of view; also, because the standards are in keeping with the constant advances being made in modern communications, which circumstances should be borne in mind to support the adoption of the standards on an international scale.

Opinions of the Public Health Department

1. Should the Governments consulted unanimously agree that the standards such as those proposed are necessary and advisable, then the most practical step would be to present a definitive or quasi-definitive document to the Pan American Sanitary Conference which is scheduled to meet in the Fall of 1966. A Treaty, which requires ratification, takes too long and is really not warranted by this matter.

2. As to the standards themselves, they will probably be most useful in cases of recent death or embalmed bodies, but no mention is made of exhumations. It sometimes happens that soon after burial a request for exhumation and transportation is received. In Venezuela the regulations leave it to the discretion of the Ministry of Health and Social Welfare to grant the permit if less than five years have elapsed since burial; after a longer interval no health permit is required.

3. In addition to the identification appearing in the documents, it is considered advisable for an immovable plaque or other appropriate device giving minimum information for purposes of identification to be affixed to the coffin. That information may be limited to the name, age, sex, and place of final destination of the body.

4. Article 2 of the standards provides a what in practice may be a highly debatable exception since the transportation of bodies between frontier districts within 48 hours after death is exempted from the international standards. Article 5 offers two alternatives; washing with an effective disinfectant or embalming; it should be borne in mind that if either of these procedures is not applied and the coffin is not impermeable, the resultant circumstances will be highly disagreeable, especially in torrid zones where decomposition sets in even before 24 hours have elapsed.

5. The first paragraph of Article 6 does not except any quarantinable disease, and in part this is logical. But it should be remembered that Pasteurella pestis can survive in bone marrow for a month or more; also, that although in the case of rats, fleas leave the dead animal as soon as its body begins to cool, in the case of human bodies, fleas may remain in the clothing or other body covering, and such fleas may be infected, with the natural consequences in the case of transportation or embalming, especially if it is borne in mind that at present plague is a rural disease. It could therefore happen that in some cases the cause of death may not have been diagnosed because no doctor was in attendance and, no measures were taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

6. The final part of Article 7 should perhaps be clarified, for, if it is not to permit the escape of liquids or gases? the purpose of a vent or safety valve in the coffin is not very clear.

7. It might be advisable to make it a requirement for every shipment by air or sea that the imperious coffin be placed in a properly secure wooden box.

8. The reservation to Article 4.d presented by Mr. Scott C. Lyon seems reasonable, and we would be in favor of deleting that requirement.
Dear Sir:

I am pleased to acknowledge receipt of the Final Report of the Expert Committee on the International Transportation of Human Remains.

Dear Dr. Horwitz:

You have also requested that I have the Report, including the general standards approved by the Committee, examined by pertinent authorities and convey any observations which may be made. You also submit for my consideration alternate methods and procedure to be followed in order to achieve uniform laws and regulations on this subject in all countries in the Americas and invite an expression of the opinion of the Canadian Government in this regard.

I am pleased to advise at this time that steps have been initiated to comply with both requests you have made and I would point out, as you will readily appreciate, that in order to obtain a consensus viewpoint, it will be necessary to consult with other agencies who would be concerned. Would you, therefore, consider this as an interim reply with the assurance that a more definitive expression of our views will be forthcoming prior to the indicated date of 7 March 1966.

Sir,

INTERNATIONAL TRANSPORTATION OF HUMAN REMAINS

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter LO-CI-28-65 of the 30th December, 1965 enclosing a copy of the Final Report of the Expert Committee on International Transportation of Human Remains, which met in Washington, D.C., from 13th to 15th December, 1965.

As requested in your letter the general standards for transportation approved by the Committee have been examined by the pertinent authorities in this territory and I am pleased to inform you that the practices obtaining in Antigua for some considerable time conform to the said standards.

In regard to the question of the method of procedure which should be followed in order to achieve uniform laws and regulations on this subject in all countries of the Americas, it is the opinion of this Government that the simple alternative of referring the matter to the next Pan American Sanitary Conference should be adopted.

Sir,

I am directed to refer to your letter No. LO-CL-28-65 of 30th December, 1965, addressed to His Excellency the Governor and to say that the practices recommended by the Expert Committee on International Transportation of Human Remains are in fact followed in the Bahamas.

2. The rules followed rest at the present time upon international practice and not upon specific legislation. The introduction of legislation will be considered at a suitable time.

Sir,

I am directed to refer to your letter L0-CL-28-65 dated 30th December, 1965, enclosing the Final Report of the Expert Committee on International Transportation of Human Remains and to state that local regulations differ in some important respects from the proposals contained in the Report.

2. The Public Health (Importation and Exportation of Human Remains) Regulations, 1959 stipulate that

(i) the body must be embalmed
(ii) death must not have been due to a quarantinable disease
(iii) the body must be placed in a hermetically sealed metal coffin and encased in a wooden coffin or box.

3. No objection to the new proposals can be foreseen, inasmuch as their adoption is unlikely to lead to health hazards. Their adoption, however, would necessarily involve amendments to local regulations.

4. It is hoped that any aesthetic problems which might arise by the relaxation of the embalming requirements will have been given due consideration by the experts.

Dear Sir,

In so far as this island is concerned the Honourable Attorney General and the Senior Medical Officer have both advised that in respect to paragraph 3 of Article 4 of the report "As long as "a" is provided there is no necessity for "c". It is, therefore, considered that a, b, and d are adequate.

The matter relating to the methods of procedure to be followed in order to achieve uniform laws and regulations on the subject, will be referred to the appropriate authority and its observations will be transmitted to you in due course.

Sir,

In reply to your letter of 30th December, 1965, about international transportation of human remains, I am to inform you that most of the general standards approved by the Committee are already being followed by the medical and health authorities in this country. The other proposals made by the Committee appear to be generally acceptable.

It is assumed that the other point raised in your letter, that is, the method of the procedure to be followed in order to achieve uniform laws and regulations on this subject, will be taken up with the United Kingdom Government.

Sir:

The Ministry of Public Health of Bolivia has reviewed and examined the Final Report of the Expert Committee on the International Transportation of Human Remains, which contains Draft Standards for that purpose.

The Government of Bolivia is in agreement with the report and the Draft Standards except that it wishes to make a reservation with respect to Article 4 which clearly refers more to bureaucratic formalities than to requirements for the treatment of human remains.

As to how to achieve uniform legislation in the countries of the Americas the Ministry of Public Health of Bolivia agrees that the Draft Standards should be submitted to the next Pan American Sanitary Conference to be held in the autumn of this year.

Dear Doctor Horwitz:

I have your letter of December 30, last, your reference L0-CL-28-65. I have delayed my reply in order that I might examine carefully the situation as it would involve the matters referred to in the proposed recommendation. I hope that this delay does not cause you any inconvenience.

You will appreciate that questions relating to the preparation and transportation of human remains in Canada fall essentially within provincial jurisdiction. I am advised that the subject of simple but uniform arrangements with respect to the transportation of human remains in Canada is already being considered by the provinces in co-operation with the transportation agencies. It is hoped that as a result of the consideration which is being given, arrangements of a satisfactory and uniform kind may result. This, you will appreciate, is not a matter which directly comes within my responsibility.

It may be that the proposals as set forth in the report of the Expert Committee would be relevant to the consideration which is presently being given to this matter at the levels that I have mentioned. If you think it would be helpful, I would be prepared to forward copies of the report to the various provincial authorities that might be concerned and invite observations which I would then be glad to transmit to you for your consideration.
It may be, of course, that many of the matters which are contained in the report are already within existing provincial practices and I am sure information of this kind would be helpful to you.

You have directly raised the matter of procedure in connection with the development of the report. In view of the constitutional position as I have explained it, coupled with the possibility of receiving helpful views from the provinces, I think it would be inappropriate at this time for me to express any view.

I hope the above comments may be helpful to you and I would welcome your further views.

Yours sincerely,

It is as follows:

"The most logical thing to do would be to submit the Draft Standards to the next Pan American Sanitary Conference so they can be discussed in the light of the opinions expressed by the Governments and by the Executive Committee of the Organization. The decisions taken would be submitted to each Government for incorporation into their own legislation.

With respect to the Draft of the Standards presented by the Expert Committee this Directorate believes that they are complete and has no observations to offer."

Sir:

In accordance with the instructions of the Minister of Public Health, Dr. José Ramón Machado Ventura, I am pleased to send you our observations on the Final Report of the Expert Committee on the International Transportation of Human Remains, which met in Washington, D.C., from 13 to 15 December 1965.

This report was examined and studied by our officials specialized in this matter who advised that our country should subscribe to the Draft Standards received and at the same time suggested to us that we send you a copy of that part relating to the embarkation and disembarkation of human remains of the Special Instruction No. 1-67 of 20 July 1961, which constitutes the relevant legislation at present in force in our country. I am very pleased to enclose a copy of that instruction.

As to the view of our Government concerning the procedure to be followed to ensure the enactment of uniform legislation on this subject in the countries of the Americas, I should like to say that the first procedure suggested, namely the diplomatic one, must be rejected by us since Cuba is not a member of the OAS owing to the unjust and unbecoming policy of blockading our country which is practiced and maintained by the Government of the United States, which policy has been tolerated and ratified by that agency (OAS).

In our view the second procedure is the only correct and acceptable one for our country.

Sir:

With regard to your memorandum No. 136 of 4 January concerning the letter reference LO-CL-28-65 of the Pan American Sanitary Bureau, I enclose the opinion of the Legal Adviser of this Ministry, which this Office approves and which reads textually as follows:

"Guatemala, 4 March 1966. Subject: PAN AMERICAN SANITARY ORGANIZATION REQUESTS COMMENTS AND OBSERVATIONS ON REGULATIONS FOR THE TRANSPORTATION OF HUMAN REMAINS AND RECOMMENDATIONS ON PROCEDURE FOR INCORPORATING THESE REGULATIONS INTO THE LEGISLATION OF EACH COUNTRY.

Sir: I have studied the Final Report of the Expert Committee on the International Transportation of Human Remains and in this regard I should like to make the following comments:

a) In the first place I should like to point out that in Guatemala the regulations governing the control of the transportation of human remains are to be found in Article 122 and 142 of the Health Code, which provide that the transportation of human remains between departments and by road is subject to authorization by the General Directorate of Public Health.

On 22 February 1945 this Ministry issued a decision according to which permits for the transportation of human remains will be issued by the General Directorate of Public Health or its offices in the departments and that that Directorate would issue the relevant rules.

b) In practice, as I already reported, the only health requirement called for is that before a permit for the transportation of human remains is issued a medical certificate must be presented and that when this medical certificate of death shows that the death was caused by a quarantinable disease the permit for transportation shall be denied and immediate burial of the human remains be ordered. With respect to human remains that have been exhumed the same applies.

There is no requirement for the transportation or removal of ashes or remains which have been exhumed after the normal period prescribed for exhumation (four years when they were interred in a grave in the earth and six years when interred in a niche).

A form is completed in the General Directorate of Health which indicates the authorization. This authorization must be presented to the police authorities so that they may take note of it. This is done so that the police authorities of the whole country, who are responsible for exercising general control, can verify that the remains are being transported with the authorization of the health authorities.

c) In view of the absence of pertinent national legislation, it is recommended that the Regulations drawn up by the Expert Committee be adopted. They might be adopted, as is suggested by Dr. Horwitz, at the next Pan American Sanitary Conference, which will be held in the Fall of 1966, probably in Washington, U.S.A.

d) I should like to suggest that Article 2 and Article 4 of the draft be modified. I believe that a final paragraph should be added to Article 2, reading as follows: "...shall not be subject to the standards but to such bilateral agreements as may be adopted in this regard".

Article 4, paragraph (c) should be modified and paragraph (d) should be suppressed since, as stated by the Representative of the United States, paragraph (d) is an unnecessary formality since the transit permit referred to in paragraph (c) can also be the authorization referred to in paragraph (d). Paragraph (c) could remain as follows: "...a transit permit stating the surname, first name and age of the deceased person, cause of death, place in which death occurred or, in the case of exhumed remains, place of burial. This permit shall be issued by the competent authority of the country despatching the body or human remains".

e) The Guatemalan Delegate to the Expert Committee, Mr. Héctor Ramiro Ruano, has already reported to the General Health Directorate and the Subdirector of that Directorate has made pertinent comments which are included in the report, a copy of which I am pleased to attach. I also attach a copy of the form at present used by the General Health Directorate for granting authorization for transportation. I am, Sir, Yours truly, John Schwank Duran, Legal Adviser to the Ministry of Public Health and Social Welfare.

I should be grateful if you would please pass this information on to the person concerned.

Yours truly,

Sir:

In reply to your letter ZII-646-66 of 11 February 1966, I am pleased to inform you that the authorities interested in the Draft General Standards on International Transportation of Human Remains have examined the document and are generally agreed with its contents. They only suggest the following additions:

In the Chapter on Documentation, item B, at end of paragraph add the words: "the statement is to be certified by the local health authorities".

In the Chapter on Final Provisions, change Article 10 to read as follows: "The transportation of remains exhumed after the period established in the provisions in force has elapsed, and the transportation of ashes shall not be subject to health or other special measures".

Very truly yours,

Dr. Pedro Daniel Martínez

DLF/ezg.
With respect to comments on the Draft Regulations for the International Transportation of Human Remains, which were requested by your Office on 11 February 1966 in letter No. ZII-646-66, I should like to make the following additional suggestions:

In the part entitled "Definitions" there seems to be some contradiction between Article 1 and Article 2, since the first states that "international transportation of human remains is understood to be the shipment of the body from the country where the death occurred to the country of its final destination immediately after either death or disinterment" and the second prescribes that "the transportation of bodies between frontier districts within 48 hours after death shall not be subject to the standards".

I should therefore like to suggest that the word "immediately" used in Article 1 be suppressed.

Yours truly,

Dear Dr. Horwitz:

I write in reply to your letter LO-CL-28-65 of 27 December 1965 in which you sent me the standards approved by the Expert Committee on the international transportation of human remains by land, sea, and air.

This is to inform you that our legal adviser, Dr. Orlando Buitrago Méndez, has made a thorough examination of the document and in general we are agreed that it contains appropriate provisions and regulations which in no way conflict with the laws of Nicaragua. Consequently, it is our view that the regulations may be submitted to the Executive Committee of the Organization in the near future.

With respect to the procedure to be followed in order to ensure the adoption in the Americas of uniform legislation on this subject, we believe that the simplest way would be to submit the regulations to the next Pan American Sanitary Conference, which will be held in 1966, for consideration and approval.

No. 014

Paris, 17 March 1966

Dear Sir:

By your letter L0/CL/28/65 of 28 December 1965 you were good enough to bring to my attention the Final Report of the Expert Committee on International Transportation of Human Remains.

I have the honor to inform you that I have the following two observations to make on that document:

In the first place, with regard to the paragraph headed "Documentation", Article 4 (b), page 9, a certified statement by the person authorized to prepare the remains indicating the manner and method in which the body was prepared would not appear to be sufficient; it would be better, in view of the possibility of a subsequent medico-legal inquiry, to place in the casket in an impervious and non-corrodable receptacle a sample of the product used for embalming the body.

Furthermore, in the paragraph headed "Shipment Requirements", Article 6, page 9, provision is made for the human remains to be embalmed whenever the cause of death was a quarantinable disease; nevertheless, special precautions and arrangements should be envisaged for this embalming. Details of the nature of the product to be used, depending on the case, strengthening of the procedure for disinfecting the body, double envelope of the coffin.

In addition, with respect to the procedure to be used for putting these expert recommendations into effect, it would seem preferable to submit the report to the next Pan American Sanitary Conference.

I am, Sir,

Yours, truly
